

Le'ROYAL

With ingenious skills and profound knowledge in the elements of rhythm, melody and harmony, Le'Royal has reintroduced the ideology of music through his creativity.

“Music is an art, and art has no limitation, this is why versatility in genre is my main focus.”

Preserving with passion from a young age, Le'Royal has become a master of his art.

“If you really want this it will happen.” Kevin Liles told him, which Le'Royal still holds on to.

Born and raised in Baltimore, Maryland, Le'Royal was surrounded with the sounds of music embracing the fundamentals of accapella singing and becoming utterly meticulous with it. Participating as a member in many accapella groups and choirs, he performed at the Library of Congress at the tender age of 15.

His first studio experience was at the “Gamble and Huff Studio” in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, with the National Chorus. Writing and performing in accapella is the foundation in his career as an artist, which later stems to many other genres of music.

At the present time Le'Royal is receiving an abundance of positive feedbacks from his first single “Promise” released in UK and South Africa.

Due to his young age and innate creativity Gianni junior can be considered as a future talent to the house scene worldwide.